INTERMOUNTAIN JUNIOR SCIENCE & HUMANITIES SYMPOSIUM Wednesday, March 4 thru Saturday March 7, 2009

ABOUT THE SYMPOSIUM

The University of Utah is proud to announce that it will be hosting the Intermountain Junior Science & Humanities Symposium (IJSHS). The Symposium is sponsored in cooperation with the U.S. Departments of the Army, Navy and Air Force, the Academy of Applied Sciences and the University of Utah. The primary aim of the IJSHS is to promote research and experimentation in the physical and social sciences, engineering, and mathematics at the high school level, and to publicly recognize students for outstanding achievement.

SYMPOSIUM FEATURES

- Original Research Presentations by High School Students
- Student Poster Session
- Laboratory Visits
- Presentations by Guest Speakers
- Opportunities to Meet Others Interested in the Sciences

Science teacher, schools or mentors may nominate any student that would benefit from opportunity. The program provides all official delegates with hotel accommodations, meals and local transfers for three full days. The $50 non-refundable registration fee, travel to and from the Symposium, and miscellaneous expenses are to be paid by the student, school, district or other private agency.
